The plaintiff, Quentin Neal is an inmate at Waupun Correctional Institution in Waupun. On April 5th, 2022, Mr. Neal reported that he had experienced a serious injury while playing basketball at recreation. Neal believed his injury was towards his achilles heel as he described he felt a painful pop in his heel before his leg gave out. Medical staff begin to minimize his injury stating that it was just a "charlie horse" or a "cramp," neglecting his claim. Neal then made contact with Dr. Cheryl Jeanpierre, assistant unit manager Ashley Haseleu, and unit manager Robert Weinman in an attempt to receive further medical treatment. Neal also stated he is experiencing an extreme amount of pain and was in need of pain medication. Medical personnel have prescribed pain medication for Neal but none of which will take away the pain he was experiencing. Between April 5th, 2022, and May 18th, 2022, Neal was waiting to receive an MRI while being forced to perform work duties within the institution. Immediately staff began to question Neal's capabilities and raised concerns about his condition eventually pulling him from work in hopes of his safety. On May 18th, 2022, Neal finally received an MRI confirming he had sustained a very serious injury. Diagnosis was a partially torn achilles tendon (5cm in length, measurable gap evident), osteochondral defect to his anterior talar dome, and midfoot degenerative change. In between appointments, the institution physician had worked with Neal several times before stating he'd refer me to orthopedics for other treatment options. On July 7th, 2022, Neal had an appointment with Dr. Eric Nelson via zoom conference which only lasted 3-5 minutes in time. Neal was under the belief that he would be able to discuss treatment options with Mr. Nelson. Mr. Nelson informed Neal that quote "you are not at liberty to choose treatment options here." Neal seeks damages from Weinman, Haseleu, Jeanpierre, and Nelson. For refusing him proper medical treatment, forcing him to heal without treatment, and treating Neal with a deliberate indifference.
